On Thursday 8 January 2009, Novera Energy was honoured with a visit from Ed Miliband, the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change. Mr Miliband visited Novera's Operations Centre in Warrington where he was taken on a tour of Novera's workshop by the Company's Chief Executive Officer, David Fitzsimmons.

The Secretary of State was briefed on recent engine improvements and general operational performance. Mr Miliband took time to meet staff and talk through some of the challenges facing the renewable energy industry and discuss a number of areas in which the Government can support Novera and the industry in general.

Ed Miliband reported he was pleased to see the renewables industry in action, using innovation and technology to create jobs and prosperity.
